

November 28, 2006

Thomco is pleased to announce the addition of Bill Coons to our team of dedicated professionals. On November 13, 2006 Bill began working with Thomco as Loss Control Director. If his name sounds familiar to you perhaps you have met over the years as Bill has done some independent consulting for Thomco in the past. His past work was primarily related to our Assisted Living and Childcare programs. In his new capacity as Loss Control Director, Bill will be responsible for coordinating Thomco's loss control efforts for ALL our national programs written out of the Georgia office.

Bill lives in Woodstock, Georgia with his wife, Sally and their two children. He enjoys the outdoors, tennis, beaches and mountains, reading, and college sports. He believes strongly in God, family, and working hard. Bill was recently helping his daughter with a school project where he was the subject of an interview and was quoted as saying, "I understand my time on earth is finite. When the time comes that I must leave this existence and move on to eternity I would really like to be remembered as, 'someone who truly cared about others.'"

Bill is a graduate of The University of Georgia with a degree in Risk Management and Insurance. During his professional career in the insurance industry Bill has gained a variety of valuable experience that will enable him to assist our clients and business partners in their total loss control efforts. Early in his career Bill handled claims as a multi-line adjuster. Bill has worked with many brokers over the years in various capacities as an employee and as a company representative handling claims and loss control. He understands the challenges our appointed agents face in providing their clients with the absolute best products and service while remaining true to their business purpose.

Over the past eleven years Bill has been working as a consultant for a variety of clients in several different industries. He understands small and large businesses and the many challenges they face in conducting their business. Bill recognizes that business owners must balance their efforts to perform the work they are called to do and still find time to respond to regulatory authorities, which can be extremely burdensome. Using creative methods and partnering with business owners in loss control efforts has earned Bill the respect of industry professionals. We are confident that Bill will use his knowledge and experience combined with working hard to develop industry specific loss control resources for our clients and companies.

Bill is looking forward to the challenges of working with Thomco to provide our customers valuable loss control service. If you have any questions, concerns, or industry specific loss control trends that you would like to have addressed in the coming months we encourage you to post a comment on our Loss Control link. Bill will work hard to find answers to your questions, solutions for concerns and will be proactive in addressing the challenges that face our specific markets. If you would like to send a personal e-mail to Bill address it to BillC@thomcoins.com or follow the link.