Reduced Rates and New Coverage Enhancements for Thomco's Senior Living Program

Kennesaw, Georgia – September 14, 2007 – Thomco is pleased to announce that we have made numerous changes to our Senior Living program. Not only have we reduced our General Liability/Professional Liability rates, but we have also made substantial changes to our coverage form and added several coverage enhancements.

To further demonstrate Thomco's dedication to the Senior Living industry, we are also launching Thomco University (www.ThomcoUniversity.com). Thomco University is an online Continuing Education program developed exclusively for our Senior Living clients, all free of charge.

We recognize that there are several options for our Senior Living customers when it comes to choosing an insurance carrier so we have tried to make the process a little smoother by simplifying our Senior Living Supplemental Application. In addition, you no longer have to send new applications to us every year, just fill out our one-page renewal application and we will commit to provide you firm renewal terms with excellent customer service.

Please visit our web site (www.Thomcoins.com) to download our new application, link to Thomco University or view the new improvements to our coverage forms.
